Rodinia Oil Corp. Completes Phase One Seismic Acquisition Program in Central Australia and announces filing of Preliminary Prospectus

Calgary, Alberta, May 12, 2008 Rodinia Oil Corp. ("Rodinia") is pleased to announce that it has completed the acquisition of its Phase One seismic program in the Officer Basin of South Australia in late April 2008. Preliminary interpretation of this seismic data, and existing data, indicates the possibility of seven large structural trends, six of which range from approximately 62,000 acres to approximately 188,000 acres in areal extent. Three features identified on these structures are classified as high risk drillable anomalies. The Phase One program included 985 km of two-dimensional seismic data acquisition, of which 650 km has been processed and interpreted to date. After a full interpretation of the Phase One program data, Rodinia intends to initiate a Phase Two seismic program.

Filing of Preliminary Prospectus

On May 5, 2008 Rodinia filed a preliminary prospectus in the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario in connection with an initial public offering of its class "A" common shares. The offering is expected to close in June 2008. A copy of this prospectus can be accessed through SEDAR at www.sedar.com.

A syndicate of agents (lead by Tristone Capital Inc. and including Blackmont Capital Inc, FirstEnergy Capital Corp. and Haywood Securities Inc.) has agreed to act as agents of Rodinia to conditionally offer the class "A" common shares of Rodinia to the public on a "best" efforts basis.

About Rodinia

Rodinia is a junior oil and natural gas corporation focused solely on high impact onshore exploration in Australia. Rodinia has exclusive access to over 23 million gross acres of under-explored lands within the Officer and Georgina basins in Australia, which may have significant hydrocarbon potential based upon recently acquired seismic data, known geologic history and the existence of analogous basins in Oman and in Siberia, Russia. Rodinia is based in Calgary, Alberta.
